Upon returning to the depot he made a short speech, in which he said:

"The sentthern question, as for years it has been popularly termed, is precipitated into this can was by the south fact, and to neglect to notice it would be to overlook one of the most powerful and dangerous factors in the respectively the new south and the old south. The new south represents that awakened, ilberal sentiment which is striking for the industrial development of that naturally rich section of the union which recognizes the necessity of protection, which casts the biter memories of the civil conflict behind, and which is hopefully struggling in Virgina, in North Carolina, in Tennessee, and in other states of the late confederacy. This element includes many mon who served in the confederate armies. It naturally adhitates with the republican party, and it seeks to lead people away from the prejudices of the past to the contemplation of the majestic future which wise and magnatimous action may bring to the south in common with the north. The old south represents the spirit of rebellion and cherishes sentiments of anilen discentent; is perpetually readilizating its faith in the rightfulness in the lost cause; is full of bitter representes against those who triumphed in the war for the union; regards negro sufface with abborrence; maintains the white line, and is ready to use whatever amount of intimidation or violence may become necessary to preserve its own political and personal mastery in the south. which embraces the matured wisdom of the past twenty years in sustaining a protective policy. Indiana has a stake less than that of New York only as her population and wealth are less. The citizens of these two states fully comprehend what it means to trust that national orderit, the national insures, the national pensioning, the rotective system, and the great interests which are in the control of the national government to the old south, with its bitterness, its unreconciled tempor, its narrowness of vision, its hostility to all northern interests, its constant longing to revive an impossible rest, its absolute thought of revive an impossible rest, its absolute thought of revive an impossible rest, its absolute though the republican administration of time for the propolican administration of the government, will ultimately come into the great preparations. In the last ten years great progress has been made toward thest, groat progress has been made toward thest, and the next ten years may winces the effacement of all hostile lines and the absolute triming of just and magnarimous policies. [Reand the next ten years may witness the effacement of all hostife lines and the absolute triumph of just and magnanimous policies. [Renewed cheering.] But all prospect of that result would be distanted and destroyed by giving the old south possession of the national power. Among the first of the bale-ful effects that would follow would be the crushing out of all liberal progress in the south and the practical multiparation of all that has been gained by the reconstruction of the laws which followed the rebellion. The people of New York and the people of Indiana are now asked to aid in bringing about that deplorable result, to be followed by the shandonment or the reversal of the great financial and industrial policies under which the nation has prosperted so marvelously since the close of the war. [Cries of "Never!"] I do not, I cannot, believe that you will do it, because such a course is forbidden by every consideration of emightened self-interest. [Cheers.]

by every instinct of patriotism, as well as by every consideration of enlightened self-interest. (Cheers.)

At Brail, in the Indiana coal mining district, there was a great crowd, composed larvely of miners. Mr. flatine made a short speech on the tariff, which was very favorably received, and when at the end he remarked that is suditors were free agents, and suggested that those who preferred English free trade ought to vote with the democratic party there were loud shouts of "No, No," "Never," we are down on England.

At Greencastle there was another great meeting, where Mr. Baine spoke substantially as he had spoken at Torre Haute. At Crawfords will he made a brief speech, in the course of which he paid a tribute to the character of Shenry S. Lane, whose home was there. It was almost dark when the train arrived at Lafagerrowd. He was escorted to the stand, where he made a speech shallar to the one at Tere Haute. He was then driven to the house of sen. George R. Williams, where he dined and will spend the night, in the evening he reviewed a large terrollight procession. To morrow he goes to Springheld, Ill.

A Democratic Candidate Withdraws.

PHILADELPHIA, Cet. 25.—At a late hour last night William N. Hivst, democratic candidate for comptroller, whisdrew from the ticket in a lotter to the democratic executive committee. Mr. Hirst is at present comptroller, and was nominated to succeed himself. His private financial transactions with a friend a year ago afforded room for charges of forgery against him, which have been widely published in the present campaign. Mr. Hirst says, in his letter of declination, that although he has denied the charges under eath, and exposed the motives which indusneed their authors, he feels that his usefulness as a candidate has been seriously impaired, and seeing that the success of the democratic ticket, local and national, is imperfied, he resigns the candidacy with which his party honored him. The democratic campaign committee today recommended William F. McCully in the comptrollership, and will hold a convision to emorpe to hominate a randidate by the enfice of recorder of docis, for which Mr. McCully had been nominated.

Cleveland and His Visitors.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The executive chamber was througed with visitors to-day. The governor was very busy with routine work, but shook hands with several hundred persons. Among the visitors were an excursion party, numbering nearly 350 persons, trom Boston on the way to New York. How, Samuel J. Randall, of Pennsylvania, called on the governor this atternoon, with whom he had quite a lengthy interview. Among the other callers were Congressman (corge L. Converse, of Ohio; W. T. Lee, of Boston; W. W. Masher, of Herkimer county; A. A. Huut, of Scoharie, and ex-Mayor Edward Murphy, of Troy.

making preparations for the return of his family next month. He has spent all of his time thus far in the campaign in Ohio. To a REPUBLICAN reporter who asked him what reason there was for the claim of Gov. Hoadly, won has. Then, too, the democrats are discouraged. 'I suppose you are equally confident as to the general result?'

"Not equally confident, for I don't know as much about that as I do about this. I have not been in New York yet but expect to go there noxt week, and shall be in the eastern states until election day. I don't know. I do know what this when I don't know. I do know what this when I don't know. I do know what this when I don't know. I do know what this when I don't know. I do know what this when I don't know. I do know what this when I don't know. I do know what this when I don't know. I do know what this when I don't know. I do know what this when I don't know. I do know what this when I don't know. I do know what the good when I don't know. I do know what had the tariff question to do with it?"

"A great deal. Our people are for the tariff. Seen the democrats pretend to be."

"Don't you formet Frank Hurd?"

"What had the tariff uses into not do with it?"

"What Frank Hurd is an honest free trader, and he ran far behind his ticket. He was defeated by about 30 majority, and the state democratic theket carried his district, I think, by about 1,000 majority."

The senator further said that the gain of three congressman in Ohio was not hearly what the republicans should have had. As fi stands now the republicans have nearly 20,000 majority on the congressional vote, yot the democrats have eleven congressmen to the republicans is the result of a very ourrageous gerrymandering of the state by the democrats. Senator sherman will return to Washington with his family about the niddle of next month. He will speak in Beston next Wodnesday. The appearance of the senator does not indicate in the fatigues of the campaign have worn upon him.

CHRYSTAL SPRINGS, MISS., Oct. 20.—Last Friday night a republican meeting was held here which was largely attended and at which Col. Yellody was the principal speaker. The meeting was interrupted by the bourbon democrats, and one colored man was struck a severablow on the side of the head with some sharp instrument and will probably die. The meeting was finally broken up, and Col. Yellody went to the hotel to await the train to go to his home. When the train arrived he started for the cars, but had hardly got outside when the democrats raised a yell of "catch him and kill him." A large crowd at once broke for Col. Yellody, as if the shout had been a signal and he was caught and dragged away out of town and has not been seen since. It is believed here that he was murdered.

A Barbeoue in Indiana.

A Barbesse in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 22.—A democratic rally and barbecue was held at Peru to-day. The crowd was the largest ever assembled in the town, numbering about 20,000 persons. There was a large industrial toarade by the townships and a fine array of uniformed clubs and bands. Sixteen beeves and a dozen sheep failed to satisfy the hunger of the crowd. The arrival of Mr. Hendricks was greeted with great enthuslasm and his address received with rounds of applause. Speeches were also made by ex-Senator McDonaid, Durbin Ward, Judge Thurman, and others. In the evening there was a large torchilght procession and a display of nreworks.

THE ENGLISH PARLIAMENT. The Queen's Speech on Its Reassembling Yes

LONDON, Oct. 23.-Parliament reassembled opening the session

My Londs and Gentlemen; I have brought ou together to enable you to further consider you together to enable you to further consider the great subject of the representation of the people. I continue to maintain relations of amily with all foreign powers. The informamation from the Soudan includes painful uncertainties, but the energy, courage, and resource conspicuously displayed by Gen. Gordon in the successful defense of Khartoum deserve my warm recognition. The advance of my troops to Dongoia has for its object the rescue and security of that gallant officer and of those who have so faithfully co-operated with him. I am using my best endeavors in Egypt to promote further improvement of affairs in that country. I have given my support to the Egyptian government in the difficult financial position in which it was left through the failure of the recent conference. I regret the occurrences in the Transvaal, and am considering, with the Cape government, means to secure the observance of the convention.

osk of you further pecuniary provision.

My lords and gentlemen, a bill for the extension of the parliamentary franchise will be at once introduced. May the blessing of God attend your labors.

In the house of lords Baron Belper, liberal, in moving the address in reply to the queen's speech, lamenhed out forthwith into a discussion of the franchise design and expressed the hope that the bill would be adopted by the peers without delay.

In the house of commons Mr. Gladstone gave notice that next Monday he would ask that priority be granted to the franchise bill throughout the seesion.

Mr. Timothy Harrington, home-rule member for west Meath, gave notice that he intended to offer an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne to the effect that the administration of the law in Ireland was unsatisfactory, and that an inquiry into the Maamtrama murder trial would lead togreater contentment among the people.

In the house of lords the Marquis of Salisbury, conservative leader, amounced that the house of lords the marguist of franchise measure, together with a restitution act, at the carliest date. Earl Granville urged a calm discussion of the bill. The house then adjourned to Nov. 3.

The Hanoverian Throne.

Berlin, Oct. 23.—The North German Gozette that eleven of the nineteen districts of Hanover, return Guejnh deputies, whose programme, according to Deputy Gosta, since Prossia will not spontaneously offer the Hanoverian throne to the duke of Cumberland, is the use of forcing complication to bring about a forcible restoration. The Gractic considers this declaration treasonable.

The questions of the Brunswick succession has been discussed by the bundesrath. A majority of the body resolved not to admit the claims of the duke of Cumberland.

Count Goertz Wrisberg, president of the council of the regency, in opening the assembly to-day said that the council was in favor of a settlement of the question of the succession in conformity with the laws of the empire, and therefore abstained from further action. He also said: "If we give the empire, what belongs to it, it will also expect that the constitution of the duchy and its legal position within and toward the empire will be fully considered."

A motion was adopted expressing loyalty to the emperor and to the empire and hope for the future of the duchy.

Meanwhite the rest of the Chinese soldiers formed an ambush near at hand. Presently a signal, previously agreed upon, was given, whereupon the supposed coolies and the soldiers in ambush made a sudden attack upon the French and hemmed them in on all sides. The French were overwhelmed, and rushed into the sea in the wildest confusion. Admiral Lespesadmits that toe of his men were killed. The loss of the French flag was greatly deplored, and Admiral Lespes endeavored to recover it from the Chinese by offering them two now flags in exchange for it.
